Road Overpass To Be Asked

BY CARROLL WILSON

Construction of an overpass extending Hunsley Hills Road over U. S. 87 about one-half mile north of Canyon was requested Monday by Randall County Commissioners.

A delegation from the county and city of Canyon will travel to Austin in February to formally present the request to the Texas Highway Commission.

The county request also includes the temporary closing of access and entrance by Hunsley Hills Road to U. S. 87.

The county action was a result of a request last week by Troy Martin, publisher of The Canyon News, who said the paper has been working several months to have the entrances and exits of Hunsley Hills Road closed to U. S. 87.

Chili Smith, district engineer for the Texas Highway Department, and several others from the district office attended Monday's session.

The county's request was passed with an eye to the future extension of Hunsley Hills Road east to Washington Street and future development of a road system leading into the West Texas State University campus.

Virgil Henson, financial vice president of WTSU, appeared before the commission and said the university would like to see an overpass placed to span the highway.

"An overpass was planned there in the original plans for the freeway," Henson said. "We (the university) agreed to give the county the amount of land required for a grade separation."

Henson then said the university would like to see Hunsley Hills Road extended to the east. He said right-of-way would be provided to the railroad tracks.

Henson said he visualizes the extension of the road and then addition of several more roads to lead into the WTSU campus and to Buffalo Bowl.

The financial vice president said, however, the county should request one thing at a time--the overpass being of first

Christian Says He'll Announce

State Rep. Tom Chrisitan of Claude was guest speaker at the Tuesday meeting of the Canyon Rotary Club, and then told The Canyon News he would announce his intention to seek re-election to the Legislature "early next week."

"I have never believed in waiting until the last minute to make my position known to the voters," Christian said. "But I have had a very busy schedule since returning from the 61st Legislature and I think I should talk to as many of my constituents and advisors as possible in the counties before making an announcement."

Christian represented Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Collingsworth, Donley and Randall Counties during the 61st Legislature and was instrumental in the passing of several pieces of legislation during his freshman year in the House.

"I am very pleased that we were able to establish a separate Board of Regents for West Texas State University," the 1955 graduate of WTSU said. "I think the University will now have people all over the state working in its behalf, instead of one board concerned with several universities and colleges."

Christian also carried in the House a bill legalizing protuberances on tires for vehicles traveling state highways which has been accredited with increasing the highway safety factor during icy conditions.

The legislator served on the Criminal-Jurisprudence, Education, Juvenile Crime, Public Land and Buildings and Livestock committees and has an interim committee appointment on State Franchises.

Christian served in the United States Navy before graduating from college, then taught school at Boys Ranch and Canadian. He currently farms and ranches near Claude.

Speaking to the Rotarians Tuesday, Christian said "Up to now conservative-liberalism has been the philosophy in the state but now rural-urban thinking on issues is taking the forefront."

"In the next session of the Legislature we will have from 90 to 92 seats from the eight populous counties downstate," he said. "Subtract these from the proportioned seats and you

Entries Due By Feb. 14 For Lasses

Entries are presently being taken for a "Miss Canyon" beauty pageant to be held at the Canyon High School auditorium February 28.

All girls, age 16-21 are eligible for entry with a civic organization, business firm or campus organization as sponsor.

Sponsoring resigtration fees are due by February 14.

The beauty pageant winner will receive fashons from De'ons in Canyon and will represent Canyon in the following beauty pageants: Miss Grain Sorghum contest in Dimmitt, Miss Irish Rose in Shamrock and Miss Wheatheart of the Nation in Perryton. She will not be eligible for the Miss Texas pageant. In addition to the fashionxns from De'ons, the winner will also receive other prizes, according to the contest committee.

Judging will be strictly on personality and beauty and entries will model the 28th in party dress only. A pre-pageant coke party will allow for the out-of-town judges to meet and become acquainted with the beauty pageant entries the afternoon of the pageant.

Sponsored by the Canyon Study Club, the pageant will be open to the public at $1 admission for adults and 50 cents admission for students on February 28.

New Lights On Highway

The third of three new lighting systems for the U. S. 87-U. S. 60 interchange in north Canyon was readied for use Tuesday by workmen. The lights, ten oval shaped lamps, can be lowered, as shown above, by hydraulic system on cables. The lights were lowered Tuesday for final installation.

Lose One, Win One On Road

Buffs Meet NA On Campus

When the West Texas State University Buffaloes take on Northern Arizona Saturday night here, they will be facing a team the stature of the University of Houston.

NAU's credintials are almost impeccable. They have proven to be almost unbeatable. In 13 outings, they have lost but two.

West Texas, recuperating from a defeat at the hands of Houston's Cougars last weekend, will be seeking a revenge of sorts when they take the court in Buffalo Fieldhouse at 8 p.m.

The first two games of the season were bad for Northern's Lumberjacks. They lost the first to Los Angeles State 110-88, and the next to Pepperdine 89-75. They haven't lost since.

Probable starters for the Lumberjacks will be Mike Williams, 6-9, who averages 19.1 poits per game; Don Wrother, 6-4½, averaging 15.3 points per game; Don De Bordelaben, 6-7, averaging 6.8 points; Walt Mamon, 6-2, averaging 14.8; and Bob Lucid, 6-0, averaging 8.8.

Top reserve for NAU is Ted Russell, 6-8, hitting at a 12-point average clip.

In the past 18 games between the two teams, the Buffs have won 12 and lost six.

The Buffaloes started a two-game road trip into south Texas last week with a slightly short-ended stick.

They played at Pan American against a team they had earlier beaten by 19 points in Canyon and at Houston against the nation's 11th ranked collegiate team. Besides playing on the road and taking a losing record into the two-game trip, the Buffaloes carried only eight players on the trip. Two team members remained home to sharpen up in their studies.

Coach Dennis Walling's Buffaloes returned home Sunday. They are still on the minus side of a .500 record, but they proved they can win on the road and they proved they can get on the court against some of the nation's standout ball clubs--or at least one of them.

The Buffaloes, hitting 71 percent of their field goal attempts in the first half, took their second victory of the season against Pan American Thursday night, 86-76.

Playing without sophomore guard George Bailey and forward-center Rick Bacon Saturday night against Houston's Cougars, the Buffaloes gave their nationally-ranked hosts a scare before falling 91-83.

The Buffs evened their record at 5-5 against Pan American and for a while Saturday night it appeared as though they were going to push their mark above the .500 standard and score a major upset as well.

They trailed the Cougars, 43-41, at halftime, but came out with a hot hand in the second half. They led by as many as nine points with less than 10 minutes to play. Then the lack of bench strength caught up with the Buffs.

Houston took advantage of the Buffaloes' lack of reserve

Bill Wilson Will Seek Judge Post

Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson will run for re-election to his position this year, even though he was elected to the post just two years ago.

The position is for a four-year term.

In 1968, Wilson was elected to serve precinct one in Randall County for four years. However, a mistake in the Secretary of State's Office caused Wilson to seek re-election again this year.

According to letters sent to Wilson from the office, he was misinformed in 1968 by the office but must seek re-election.

"I was elected to this office in 1968 by the people of Randall County for a four-year term, but the office of the Secretary of State of Texas has ruled that sometime prior to my having been elected, someone down the line ran in the wrong series of years and ruled that I must run again in 1970 to get in the right series," Wilson said. "This mistake took more than 10 years to locate and was an oversight at the time four-year terms were started."

A Democrat, Wilson is a native of the Amarillo-Canyon area. He moved four miles east of Canyon in 1947 from Ama-

Feds May Buy Food For Needy

Randall County received indications this week that local money may not have to be spent on establishing and maintaining a commodities distribution program or food stamp program for needy families.

Randall County Judge Carroll Brown said he has received two letters, both indicating federal funds will be available to finance the programs.

A federal district judge's court ruling two weeks ago stated that each county in the state--including Randall--not having a food distribution program for needy families must initiate one within 60 days.

A letter from Gov. Preston Smith states that "so that we may rapidly extend food assistance to all needy families in Texas, federal funds from the U. S. Department of Agriculture now are available to start food donation programs in those Texas Counties which have neither a commodity distribution program nor a food stamp program."

Several months ago, a representative of the state welfare department approached Randall County commissioners about beginning a commodities distribution program. The commissioners turned down the proposal.

The representative at that time indicated the cost of such a program would be about $700 monthly to the county.

The letter from the Governor has no such indication.

"Arrangements for transfer of the funds from the Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service to the Texas Department of Public Welfare were made Monday, January 5.

"These funds are specifically marked to help county governments, in cooperation with the State, start food donations to low-income families. A portion

Campus Vets Start; May Try Nationally

The Campus Veterans organization was chartered by the West Texas State University Student Senate Monday, and charter members said they hope to provide men and women returning from the service with positive help in adjusting to campus life.

Faculty sponsor Dick Laird said the organization is open to any military service veteran who received an honorable discharge and is a full or part time student at WTSU.

The newly written group consitution expressed the goals of Camvets as to encourage service veterans to pursue a college education by furnishing academic and moral support; to provide for the exchange of positive and creative ideas and to promote patriotism on and off campus.

Interim officers for the organization include John Roberts, president; Gary McDade, vice president; Ron Gilmore secretary; Vernon Nickerson, treasurer and Wayne Weaver, master-at-arms.

Roberts said the group could be instrumental in the establishment of several programs aiding returning veterans and those already enrolled on campus.

"We would like to get together a

Bernard Warren Files For Mayor

A life-time resident of Canyon filed Tuesday as a candidate for the office of mayor of the city, a position which Mayor Paul Lindsey said last week he will not pursue this year.

Bernard Warren, local businessman, announced his candidacy Wednesday morning.

"I think the best thing is to have a good, stable city government, an efficient city government," Warren said. "We should take pride in having a good, clean town and do all we can to make sure it stays a good, clean town."

Warren's father, W. A. Warren, served eight years as mayor from 1942 to 1950.

"I think Paul Lindsey has done a real good job as mayor," Warren said. "I haven't agreed with him on everything but some people wouldn't agree with me on everything."

Warren said this is his first venture into politics.

"I want to work to do what's best for the town," he said.

Warren, 48, served terms on the city zoning commission before it was disbanded last year. He has also served on the city tax equalization board.

He is a member of the Lions Club and the First Baptist Church.

Warren attended the West Texas State training school and then West Texas State University where he graduated in 1943.

For 15 years, he owned the local funeral home and is now associated with Warrens, a local dry-goods store.

Warren and his wife, Martha, live at 2421 8th Ave. They have two sons, John, of Lubbock, and Rick, now attending Midwestern.

Abraham To Run For Seat After Terms In Legislature

A state representative this morning will become the third man seeking the 31st District senatorial seat now held by Canyon's Grady Hazlewood.

Malouf 'Oofie' Abraham of Canadian is to announce his candidacy to the office at a press conference this morning in Amarillo.

Abraham seeks the post as a Republican. Two Democrats have already filed for the position.

Hazlewood announced last week that he will not seek re-election to the post he has held 30 years.

A well-known Panhandle resident, Abraham said he is appreciative of the 30 years of "excellent service rendered to the Panhandle by Senator Hazlewood."

He said that if he has no opposition in the May Republican primary, he will not launch his campaign actively until late summer in preparation for the November general election. However, he said, he plans to visit extensively over the 20-county area covered by the senatorial district.

"Along with most Panhandle residents, I am concerned about the rapid increase in cost of running our state government," Abraham said. "With over a 60 per cent increase in four years' time, I have consistently urged a modernization and consolidation of state agencies and have opposed non-essential spending. I feel that I can accomplish more toward these ends in the Senate."

MALOUF ABRAHAM

Abraham, a life-time resident of Canadian in the north-eastern section of the Panhandle, has experience in many phases of business, particularly agri-business and petroleum.

He served two terms as mayor of Canadian and two terms as state representative. He has served on the education, urban affairs, revenue and taxation, parks and wildlife, livestock and stock raising, and other committees in the Legislature. Currently he is serving on two interim committees.

After his first term in the Legislature he ran unopposed for re-election.

Abraham said he will carry out a low-pressure, people-to-people campaign, running on his own merits and would do the best to serve the district.

Abraham and his wife, Iris, have three children, Dr. Malouf Abraham Jr. of Canadian, Mrs. Mert Cooper of Stinnett and Bill Ed Abraham of Dallas. He also has five grandchildren.

Livestock Show Begins Friday

Preparing For Stock Show

Rick Hales, left, and Mike Trammell prepare a lamb for judging in the Randall County Junior Livestock Show which begins Friday morning. The lamb belongs to Vince Wirt. All three boys are students and Canyon High School.

For many Randall County youngsters, Friday and Saturday will be the time for happiness and heartbreak, pride in accomplishment and sadness in seeing the end finalized, but most of all for heart-stopping excitement.

Approximately 120 youngsters will see the two days purely as the dates for the 23rd Annual Randall County Junior Livestock Show, and many would not trade them for December 25th and July 4th.

About 60 Future Farmers of America students and the same number enrolled in the 4-H programs in Randall County will be entering the show and sale this year, to be held in the Randall County Jr. Livestock Building.

Although the entrants stand to win prizes, scholarships and recognition, adult leaders in the community stress that the annual show is much more valuable in other ways.

"We try to teach a lot of different things with the show program," said Marcus Phillips, Vocational-Agriculture instructor at Canyon High School. "These include sportsmanship, responsibility and pride of ownership."

'We think the matter of working with their hands is very important," said John Brazzil, Randall County Agent and 4-H leader. "They must assume total responsibility in preparing for the show including feeding, raising and grooming. It is a valuable lesson in our economic system."

The fact there has been a show and sale year after year testifies to the value of the pro-

County Judge Carroll Brown is scheduled to announce his candidacy for district judge early next week although the number of the district is still in question.

Judge Brown is also switching parties. He will run on the Republican ticket.

Sporting a "Hello My Name is Carroll Brown" tag, the judge attended a coffee for Republican Senate hopeful George Bush Wednesday and allowed that the congressman from Houston would "make a good condidate."

Brown was appointed County judge by commissioners court a couple of years ago and subsequently ran for the office on the Democratic ticket. He was elected over Republican Clarence Cosby.

Brown went into a conference recently with Jack Huddleston, Potter GOP chairman, and Dick Brooks of Randall County and emerged with the decision to run as a Republican.

As recent as last fall he sought appointment to the newly created 181st District Court bench as a Democrat so his change in party affiliation came as a surprise to many.

However, it was not so much of a surprise to those who have watched the shifting political winds in Randall County.

Judge Brown came to the county bench as a protege of Republican Bill Butler. Butler said he will support Brown "down to the wire" in his bid for the district judgeship.

Brown had originally planned to announce his candidacy Wednesday but decided to hold up for two reasons.

Number one, he said, the George Bush announcement and visit to Amarillo stole his thunder. Number two, rumors are floating around that 47th District Judge Gene Jordan will seek another office---possibly the court of civil appeals---instead of making a bid for re-election.

In event Jordan does not run for re-election, Brown may get into the race for the 47th District judgeship. If Jordan decides to seek re-election, then Brown will run for judge of the 181st District.

Judge Don Dean already has announced for the latter office. Dean was appointed to the newly created court--an appointment also sought by Brown---last fall by Democratic Governor Preston Smith.

George Bush exuded confidence Wednesday as he made an appearance at a press conference in Amarillo.

Bush says he thinks he has a good chance to wrest the senate seat from Ralph W. Yarbrough in November.

I was delighted to hear that Bush will have a strong anti-pollution plank in his platform. Bush says he thinks the federal government has a key role to play in solving the pollution problem which he admits is becoming one of the nation's top problems.

Bush says he has been assured support by President Nixon.

Bush made his Amarillo appearance flanked by three Republican elected officials including Congressman Bob Price of Pampa, State Rep. Malouf Abraham of Canadian and State Rep. Tom Christian of Claude.

Price and Christian are running for re-election and Abraham is running for the state senate, 31st District.

I saw the Campus Christian Community's film on nuclear war Tuesday night. The picture did a good job of depicting its horror.

It brought home the stark realization that we one day may be faced with nuclear blackmail---the choice of abject surrender to communist dictatorship or inceneration.

Although the film told a story of which the people should be cognizant, I had the feeling that it might be considered a call for surrender.

Strangely enough, the nuclear blast itself does not seem to be the most horrifying part of nuclear war. I think the fire storms were the most terrifying.

A fire storm--such as witnessed during the saturation bombing of Dresden in World War II---is caused by oxygen rushing to the center of a burning city. This causes winds upwards of 100 miles an hour.

In all its horror, I do not think that even nuclear war would be as bad as surrender to a communist dictator.

New Highway For Happy Area

The Texas Highway Department has announced a new highway construction project on Farm Road 1075 from U. S. 87 in Happy, east to a road intersection about 10 miles away.

Construction, will consist of grading, base, structures and surfacing.

Construction will begin Feb. 15 by Cooper and Woodruff Inc. of Amarillo and will be completed by June 1.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

When an adult dope pusher peddles his poison to children, man has reached a new low in depravity. But when the police know exactly who the pusher is and where he is, and are prevented by law from laying a hand on the ghoul, the law has reached a new low in degeneracy. And when the child victim does not dare testify against his destroyer because some shyster lawyer will have the criminal back on the streets within hours--to cut the child's throat--we have reached a new low in National decadence.

Recently a man was murdered in a huge government-housing project in a Texas city. The neighbor in the apartment below knew the murder was in progress. She also knew who was being killed and who was doing the killing. She did not dare report it, however, because she knew the killer would be released within hours, and she would be his next victim.

There are currently 40 vacant apartments in this particular project. Housing is desperately scarce in the city, but only newcomers dare move in. The local people know better.

The residents say the only way to survive is to be in one's own apartment with the doors barred before dark. The majority of the residents are old people and fatherless families who are attracted by the low rents. They are helpless to cope with the fiends who lurk in the halls. Several penniless old people have been beaten to death by sadistic teen-aged gangs just for sport.

Observe the report on almost every criminal suspect who is arrested. He is either on parole, probation, or he is out on bond for one or more previous arrests. Since prison sentences have been made to run concurrently, the criminal has nothing to lose by committing as many crimes as possible once he has been apprehended.

It is a miracle that our police make any effort at all to catch criminals. What's the use? Few of them spend even one night in jail.

It was reported that 600 men were commissioned to search for the Tate murderers. Then when one of the culprits blurted out the whole story, and the other suspects were in custody, what was the reaction to that completely senseless, vicious crime? Lawyers (officers of the court--sworn to uphold the law) from all over the Country vied for the "privilege" of defending the sadistic, social derelicts.

Recently, in our own area, a confessed murderer and a confessed rapist were set free. Both felons retained the same clever lawyer. He is so expensive average citizens cannot afford his services. However, indigent felons do not have to worry about his prices.

A man pled guilty to two rapes and a sodomy charge. He went to prison for 20 years; he will probably be out in 7 at the most. Do American men no longer have any respect for their women and children?

An angry Dallas housewife whose house had been robbed 3 times and her car once in 10 days started her own war on crimes. Belatedly she learned that the police are so shackled by the law that there is very little they can do to help her. Now she says she and her responsive followers "may have to get into the area of changing some laws." May her tribe increase!

Apparently, the only fear the criminal has is that his intended victim may defend himself. He has very little fear of the police (they are supposed to let him shoot first), and no fear of the courts. If he is arrested (doubtful), and does have to face trial (more doubtful), he can employ the cleverest lawyers in the Country (at the taxpayer's expense). And everyone knows the fellow with the cleverest lawyers wins; guilt or innocence has nothing to do with the verdict.

We are a nation of laws; if our laws are faulty, our nation suffers. The function of government is supposed to be to protect the lives and property of its citizens.

Judges and juries frequently defend their miscarriages of justice on the grounds that they are trying to be kind and merciful. Is it the duty of the law to dispense mercy to vicious, destructive criminals, or justice to honest citizens?

No nation can survive with such a distorted sense of values.

Letters To The Editor

Editor
Canyon News

Dear Sir:

I recently came across a statement made by U Thant, Secretary-General of the U.N., to a conference on the Second United Nations Development Decade, May 9, 1969. Although it is rather lengthy, I hope you can find space to print it. It is a message we cannot fail to heed.

"You know only too well that we are going through a difficult and dangerous period of international relations. Mankind is divided by deep national, racial, social, and ideological antagonisms. Material and intellectural resources that are desperately needed to further common interests in peace and welfare are being diverted to the pursuit of fratricidal conflicts within the family of man.

Witnessing the ominous trend of international events I cannot but recall something Adlai Stevenson said in these halls just a few years ago: 'We, the human race, are fellow travellers on a tiny spaceship, spinning through infinite space. We can wreck our ship, we can blow the human experiment into nothingness; and by every analogy of practical life, a quarrelsome ship's company and many hands on the steering gear is a good recipe for disaster.'

Adla Stevenson's metaphor of Spaceship Earth seems more appropriate with every passing year. Like it or not, we are all travelling together on a common planet. We have no rational alternative but to work together to make it an environment in which we and our children can live full and peaceful lives.

Yet--while we waste our substance in war and in the increasingly dangerous arms race--we are neglecting threats to our civilization which should have first priority on our attention. I have in mind such urgent problems as the advancing menace of environmental pollution, the uncontrolled explosion of world population, and the vast and growing inequality in living standards between rich and poor nations.

Surely the time has come to extend our concept of solidarity to embrace the entire human race. Surely the time has come to confront through a global partnership these common threats to the survival and welfare of all. This is no Utopian dream to be realized in some distant future. It is a matter of human survival that demands immediate action.

I do not wish to seem overdramatic, but I can only conclude from the information that is available to me as Secretary-General that the Members of the United Nations have perhaps 10 years left in which to subordinate their ancient quarrels and launch a global partnership to curb the arms race, to improve the human environment, to defuse the population explosion, and to supply the required momentum to world development efforts.

If such a global partnership is not forged within the next decade, then I very much fear that the problems I have mentioned will have reached such staggering proportions that they will be beyond our capacity to control."

Navajo Rugs Are Displayed At P-P Museum

A collection of 100 Navajo Indian rugs will be on exhibit during January at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum here, according to Bill Harrison, curator of anthropology.

The exhibit is on the second floor of the museum in the old and new art galleries. The rugs belong to Murle McMurtry, a Tulia rancher, and have been purchased in collection from the Indian Tribal Ceremonies in Gallup, New Mexico.

Oldest in the collection is a German Town Navajo Rug dating back to 1880 and among the the most unusual rugs is a two-faced rug with completely different designs on each side.

PRPC Meets To Consider Applications

Members of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission met behind closed doors Wednesday afternoon to consider applications of six persons desiring to be executive secretary of the commission.

The executive session of the meeting followed the regular session.

During regular session, the commission was complimented by John Petty of Gov. Preston Smith's office for the speed in undertaking several important projects.

"We have been really impressed to date with your progress and expect a lot more," Petty said.

Petty said the application for certification submitted by the PRPC several weeks ago has been received by the Governor's office. Upon certification, the PRPC will receive a $10,000 planning grant.

Petty said the acceptance of the application will be announced soon by the Governor.

The PRPC will meet next week to discuss coordination efforts to reduce duplication of health services in the area.

"One of the real problems we have is a lot of duplication effort in overall health planning in the area," Judge E. H. Foster said. "We will try to get this thing coordinated and try to eliminate the duplication."

The PRPC approved the membership of the Moore County Soil Conservation District. Berkeley Stringer will be the district's representative.

Westside HD Opens Year With Meeting In Home Of Mrs. Dick Barrett Here

Westside Home Demonstration Club held their first meeting of the year January 7 with Mrs. Dick Barrett, outgoing president, as hostess.

Mrs. Barrett presided as the meeting was called to order and the club prayer and home demonstration creed were read by members. Roll call was answered with "how I plan to use 1970". Minutes were read approved and Mrs. Barrett then conducted the installation of 1970 officers.

Officers installed were Mrs. Bill Branum, president; Mrs. Bradley Burrus, vice president; Mrs. Paul Glovier, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Lewis Tucek, council delegate.

Mrs. Branum took charge of the meeting after the installation as members paid dues, filled in club yearbooks, drew secret pal names and read and accepted the club constitution and by-laws.

Next meeting for the club will be February 1 at the home of Mrs. Ray Metcalf.

Those present were Mesdames Dick Barrett, Ed Bourn, W. A. Branum, R. A. Burrus, Bradley Burrus, Paul Cornett, Paul Glovier, Lewis Harvey, R. O. McKay, Ray Metcalf, T. J. Myers, Fred Richard, Ralph Ruthart and Lewis Tucek.

News Brief

Preparation classes for youth of the junior and junior high departments of the First Christian Church will begin tentatively on February 14, according to Rev. Ivan Adams, pastor.

Newly elected officers were installed for the Palisades Home Demonstration Club and will take charge at the next meeting to be held February 19th. Seated from left to right is Mrs. A. R. Williams, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Paul McDonald, president; and Mrs. Gene Webb, 1st vice president. Standing is Mrs. Jairrel Moore, secretary and Mrs. Garland Turner, retiring president who conducted the installation.

Terry Vogel Is Honored At Mo. Military Academy

Terry Vogel of Canyon was among 47 high school recruits at Missouri Military Academy honored recently for having completed their basic training period.

Those honored were presented white stars, emblematic of their acceptance as members of the Missouri Military Academy's honor unit of the Reserve Officers Training Corp. The recruits were placed in the honor group for their scholastic, military, disciplinary and athletic achievements and their knowledge of Academy traditions and regulations.

Cadet Vogel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Vogel of 2507 8th Avenue, Canyon.

Officers Installed By Palisades

Members of the Palisades Home Demonstration Club held their regular monthly meeting January 8th in the home of Mrs. Jairrel Moore.

The meeting was opened with a roll call of "How I Plan To Use The Year 1970". Mrs. Jairrel Moore, club secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and the business meeting was conducted by club president, Mrs. Garland Turner.

Discussion was held and plans formulated to have a chili supper. It is to be held Saturday, January 24th at 7:00 p.m. in the cabin of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Freeman. After the supper, dominoes, cards, and other games will be played by those interested. The menu will consist of chili, beans, relishes, crackers, brownies, coffee, and tea. Tickets for the affair will be $1.00 for adults and 50¢ for children. Proceeds from the supper will be used to further improve the roads in the Palisades area.

Plans were also made for a skating party to be held February 9th at the Jubilee Skating Rink in Amarillo from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. The Club has leased the building and the party will be for Palisades residents and their guests.

Another item up for discussion was the help needed from the Home Demonstration Clubs for the Junior Livestock Show. Members of the club have volunteered to bake pies and work in the booth at the show which is to be held at the Livestock Building in Canyon January 16 and 17.

Installation of the new officers for 1970-1971 was conducted by the retiring president, Mrs. Garland Turner. Those installed were president Mrs. Paul McDonald, first vice president, Mrs. Gene Webb, second vice president Mrs. A. R. Williams, and secretary Mrs. Jairrill Moore. Mrs. Williams is also the Council Delegate. Mrs. Garland Turner has been named by the Council as Texas Home Demonstration Association Chairman.

The next meeeing is scheduled to be held in the home of Mrs. Joe Loven, Jr. February 19th at 11:00. The luncheon will consist of finger foods. Becky Hall, Home Demonstration Agent will present a program on colors.

Those attending this months meeting were Mrs. H. E. Edwards, Mrs. Paul McDonald, Mrs. Garland Turner, Mrs. Phil Booth, Mrs. Gene Webb, Mrs. Al R. Williams, Mrs. Joe Loven, Jr., Mrs. Floyd Oliver, and Mrs. Jairrel Moore.

Judith Sykes Honored With Pre-Wedding Events

Miss Judith Sykes, bride-elect of Richard L. Cummins, was honored Saturday evening with a miscellaneous bridal shower at the home of Mrs. J. Edwin Low.

Miss Sykes and Cummins plan wedding vows for January 24 at Joseph A. Hill Chapel on the campus of West Texas State University.

Receiving guests at the bridal shower were Mrs. Low, the hostess; Miss Sykes, the honoree; Mrs. Billy Bible, mother of the bride-elect; and Mrs. Aaron Cummins, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Guests were registered in the bride's book by Vicki Payne of Muleshoe and Genie Knighton of Canyon. Background music at the piano was provided during the two hour event by Kay Coppage of Muleshoe and Suzan Hayes of Canyon.

Alternating at the tea table during the shower were Linda Kerr of Muleshoe, Rhonda Bond of Andrews, Shelley Brillhart of Canyon and Suzan Read of Canyon.

Laid with a lace over light blue cloth, the table was centered with a blue glass basket filled with a white floral arrangement and flanked on each side by three blue tapers in candelabra.

Assisting Mrs. Low with hostess duties at the miscellaneous shower were Mesdames Gene Morrison, Roland Johnson, Kenneth Olsen, William B. Anderson, Glenn Dowlen, Nolon Henson, Jozach Byrd, Lynn Blewett, Battle Harris, Jack Parsons, Betty Brown, Ocie Chism, W. J. Wooten, Jr. and Raymond Raillard.

Sunday evening, Miss Sykes was honored with a "white Bible ceremony" given by the Young Women's Association of First Baptist Church with Mrs. Orrell Vise in charge.

On January 2, the bride-elect was feted with a personal shower at the home of Mrs. T. H. Knighton which was given by Misses Genie Knighton, Shelley Brillhart, Susan Read, Suzan Hayes and Vicki Payne.

Capers Dance Each Monday

Anniversary dance for the Canyon Capers Square Dance Club has been set for February 28.

The club meets for dancing each Monday night at the Junior Livestock Building and guests are welcome.

Monday night, Knox Day was in charge of calling and Leroy Pitt gave a tip.

Junior Dear Reviewed By Mrs. Jacobs Monday

The third in a series of book reviews to raise funds for the building project of the Canyon City Library was conducted Monday evening in Room 101, University Complex South at West Texas State University, with Mrs. Jerry Jacobs of Canyon speaking on the book "Junior Dear".

The book was written by her mother, Mrs. Gladys Miller of Hereford, and describes the Panhandle area in the days of the drouth and depression of the '30s. The author shows through her writing that the people of the area had a faith which could not be dimmed, even in the throes of depression. The book is a fiction story based on fact, according to Mrs. Jacobs.

Mrs. Jacobs, who is wife of the Canyon Public School superintendent, was introduced to the review audience by Mrs. Shirley White.

During the program, it was reported that the Canyon Federated Club Council has raised about $700 through ticket sales to the reviews, according to Mrs. Crews Henry, council chairman.

Mrs. Henry and other council members were introduced during the review Monday evening.

Two other reviews are slated for the spring session of the council including Mrs. Gilbert Brown March 9; and Mrs. Mary Durron, April 13.

Copies of the book "Junior Dear" will be available to the public at the next book review. Orders may be taken in advance by contacting Mrs. Henry.

News Brief

Several guests visited in the Delbert Lowes home last week and attended the funeral for Mrs. Lowe's mother, Mrs. J. H. Reynolds. Among those visiting were Mrs. Carl Perry of Sherman, a cousin of Mrs. Lowes; Mrs. Glen Bryan of Whitesboro, a longtime friend of the family; and Mr. and Mrs. Don Koch of Chappell, Nebraska, a sister of Mrs. Lowes.

Valentine Day Marriage Set For Miss Shepard And Berry

Miss Dorothy May Shepard and Jimmy M. Berry will pledge marriage vows on St. Valentine's Day, February 14, at the First Baptist Church in Tulia.

The bride-elect is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Shepard of Happy. She graduated from Happy High School in 1965 and is presently employed with the Spudnut Shop in Canyon.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Berry of Tulia. He graduated from Tulia High School, attended West Texas State University and is employed with the Amarillo National Bank.

TOO MUCH MILK CAN LEAD TO INFANT ANEMIA

Although milk is a wonderful substance by itself, it does not alone supply all the essential nutrients. Sometimes new parents keep infants on "milk alone" for too long. A leading Pediatrician suggests that baby should be started on solid foods early; when the milk or formula intake reaches one quart; when the infant weighs 10-11 pounds, or baby is three months old. Your doctor will tell you when.

Other suggestions are to offer milk by cup at 5-6 months, encourage early self-feeding, avoid force feeding, and eating specific foods. For needed iron — enriched baby cereals, meat and eggs are the best sources and should be started as early as your physician directs.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

CRACKING THE BOOKS in study hall these seventh and eighth grade students were of the opinion that "junior high work and tests are harder than in past years--and that high school work will be even harder."

Test Time Brings Study

BY LORENA MILLER

Although "test time" often brings about a flurry of study and cramming, seventh and eighth grade students interviewed this week felt that tests at the junior high level are some harder than they have been accustomed to in previous years.

"I have to study harder now," said Sue Green, a seventh grade student, who added that she takes six subjects including athletics and band and that "tests are harder in junior high".

Another seventh grade classmate, David Hinders, endorsed the fact that tests in junior high are harder than he had been having in elementary school.

He said that "he expects testing to be even harder when he gets to high school". Hinders related that he does a lot of night studying at home "at least an hour" and sometimes even more in some subjects.

Concluding that she "studies average even at test time" was DeAnn Holmes, a seventh grade student, who related that her ambition was to be a music teacher as she felt it would be rewarding and her "grades now are important".

Another seventh grader, Kim Johnson, 13, feels that tests are easier in junior high because the students were prepared for junior high while in the sixth grade. She said that "high school would be harder in some ways, but not in others."

Two other seventh grade students conceded that "they studied more" and found that "junior high was a lot harder."

Jeff Cates, 7th, said that with no study halls in elementary school he found that with the study hall periods at junior high he didn't have to take as much work home, even though he takes books home to study at test time.

Even after advancing to the eighth grade, students still felt that "studies are harder" and they expect "high school to be harder yet". They are hoping to be prepared for the advance while freshmen students.

John Payne, 8th grade, said that "it is not really any harder now--but he expected the seventh grade to be hard when he first came out of elementary". He said that he takes two or three books to study, but not really any more than in past years.

Cindy Cawthon, 8th grade, said that she was "scared of beginning seventh grade, because the family had only moved here that summer but she soon made friends" and that studies in the eighth grade are "harder because they are different things".

Mary Sanchez, 13, an eighth grade student, confirmed that sometimes she felt "it is harder in eighth grade because you are exploring new subjects". She expects high school to be even harder work and now averages from 1-2 hours nightly studying at test time.

Anticipation of high school work being harder was expressed by Tom Allen, eighth grade student, who said he was also "scared of coming into junior high". He said that high school would be different and even harder.

Robert Green, physical science instructor who holds the sixth period study hall where students were interviewed, said that "there is a general tendency for students to cram at test time--especially those who are interested in grades."

Green stated that "about half of the students use the study hall to advantage" and he further related that study halls should be kept quiet so that "students who want to study will have the opportunity."

He concluded that it is good for students to have brief study sessions at the conclusion of regular classroom work where the particular teacher may be of assistance to the students on their own particular subject. He said that he finds an occasional class period with an extra ten to twenty-five minutes which may be used by students and teacher to be "most practical."

Baritone Vocalizes For Small Audience

A REVIEW

(Editor's Note: Review and comments by Terry Shirk and Jerry Doan of the West Texas State University music faculty.)

William Metcalf of the New York City Opera Company, singing to what must be termed a disappointingly small audience, displayed a rich and powerful voice, and in addition, showed artistic poise and excellent musicianship.

The first number on the program, "Where'er you Walk" by Handell was somewhat stiff and indicated that he wasn't sufficiently warmed up. From then on, however, Metcalf's singing improved greatly.

In the Mahler "Kindertotenlieder" he showed control and a subtlety of color and shading which exquisitely expressed the text. These songs might have been even more expressive had we been able to hear them with the original orchestral accompaniment.

Metcalf really was at home in Rossini's "Largo alfactotum," negotiating the difficulties of range and rapid enunciation admirably. Only in the final cadence did his high G sound fatigued. Both the de Falla songs and the Ravel "Don Quichotte a Dulcinee" again showed his ability to cast moods. The closing note of Ravel's "Chanson epique" was executed messa di voce showing a beautiful control of tone.

The final section of the program was a group of musical show tunes as were the two encores, "Maria" from "West Side Story" and "You'll Never Walk Alone". These were well performed with a good sense of drama. The "Soliloquy" from "Carousel" was especially enjoyable and effective.

The very small audience Saturday was appalling.

The auditorium, which holds at least 700-800, had no more than 150 to 200 in the audience. Considering that there were several out of town people in attendance and that the ticket sales this year were in the neighborhood of 500, it appears that at least 3/5ths of the ticket holders decided not to come.

This is a sad state of affairs for Canyon and something should be done about it.

No artist wants to sing for a one quarter filled auditorium. In several cities students are admitted free to opera and recital programs after ticket-holders have been seated. Why not let the high school chorus or interested students in free and fill up the adutiroium?

Something should be done to let these programs reach as many as possible.

Zevely Speaks To Olfon PTA

Chi Upsilon Chapter Has Meet Here

Chi Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met for a regular meeting Wednesday evening at the West Texas State Bank with an executive board meeting preceding the regular session.

The regular meeting was called to order with members repeating the opening ritual in unison with nine members present.

Information was received by the chapter from International concerning new cook books to be printed. Beta Sigma Phi members will send in recipes which are to be used in the book which deals with "Salads" including appetizers.

Plans were made for the chapter's annual Valentine Ball to be held February 14 at the Diamond Horseshoe Club in Amarillo.

It was announced that the chapter's new pledges are Mrs. George Stevens and Mrs. Barnett Ball. They will begin their pledge training January 21 at the West Texas State Bank, preceding the regular meeting. Mrs. Roy Reynolds will be hostess for the next meeting and Mrs. Bob Costley won the door prize at Wednesday's meeting.

Voters Didn't Even Come to Water Conservation Election

BY SAM ALLRED

The first election in Randall County during 1970 did not pull many voters to the polls Tuesday, but the non-turnout is not likely to have any serious national, state or local effect.

The election was to choose committeemen from Precinct 1 and 2 for the High Plains Underground Water Board, and the fact the two incumbents ran unopposed removed a lot of the excitement from the contest.

Marshall Rockwell received 8 ballots "to regain his seat in Precinct 1, while Richard Friemel captured seven to remain the Precinct 2 leader.

Five local committeemen represent Randall County in the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, and if the low voting turnout seemed unusual, it was not without precedent.

"I think we had about eight people vote last year," said Mrs. John J. Cook, one of three election officials on duty at the VFW Hall, west of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Olson were also on duty, and Mrs. Olson expressed surprise that no one had voted by 10:30 a.m.

"Everyone knows the water level has lowered in recent years," she said. "You would think they would be more interested."

The light voter turnout Tuesday for the election can probably be attributed to the same reasons the two candidates ran unopposed: committemen do not get rich on the job, it is a pretty cut and dried business and there is nothing controversial about it.

Frank Rayner, manager of the district office in Lubbock, said later Tuesday he was not worried about the lack of voter participation.

"The light turnout is indicative of the past," Rayner said. "If everything is going along to the residents' satisfaction they see no need to come out and vote."

Rayner described the job of the five Randall County officials as being "the local review board for all applications for permits to drill irrigation wells."

"They must pass on these applications and submit their recommendations to the district board of directors," he said.

Although the committemen "function strictly within the rules and regulations of the district," the manager said they provide a valuable service.

"The object of establishing county committees was to get the operation of the district on as local a basis as was functiona," Rayner said. "At least one of the committeemen will usually know an applicant, for a well and will be familiar with any special conditions."

The job may be painstaking and the work complicated, but the Randall committeemen may also rest assured that the pay is not all that good either.

"In Randall County the men are paid mileage and $10 per day on a per diem basis for each day they meet," Rayner said. "They normally meet once a month, except when they don't meet because they do not have any business to transact."

Chairman of the Randall County board is R. B. Gist Jr. Serving with Rockwell and Friemel on the board are Carl Hartman Jr., and Leonard Batenhorst.

All in all, there seems to be little use in a federal investigation of light voter turnout in the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District in Randall County. It could be, for a change, that people really are satisfied with the way things are being run.

Bible Weekend Activities Speaker Is Dr. Farmer

Dr. William R. Farmer, professor of New Testament for the Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, will be leader for a Bible Week End Saturday and Sunday at the First United Methodist Church of Canyon.

"What Jesus Christ Is Accomplishing in the World Today" will be Dr. Farmer's topic as he speaks Saturday at a covered dish dinner for families at 12:15 noon and again at 5:45 p.m. for a youth salad supper. A nursery will be provided at the church for the family luncheon.

Saturday evening he will speak at 7:30 p.m. on "Paul's Understanding of God".

At both the 8:45 and 10:50 a.m. worship hours Sunday, Dr. Farmer will speak on "Paul's Understanding of Man" and the week end study will be concluded at 5:30 Sunday evening with the topic "Paul's Understanding of the Church".

Dr. Farmer, who was born in Needles, California, graduated from Polytechnic High School in Riverside, California, earned the A. B. in philosophy and psychology at Occidental College in Los Angeles, California, earned the B. A. and M. A. from Cambridge University in philosophy of religion and Chrisitan ethics. He earned the B. D. and Th. D. on New Testament from Union Theological Seminary in New York City and holds an honorary degree from Cambridge University, 1968, for the book "The Synoptic Problem, A Critical Analysis" published by Macmillan in 1964. He has written numerous articles and contributed to books for various publications.

Area Water Conference Scheduled

An area water resources utilization conference is scheduled Jan. 22 at the Holiday Inn West in Amarillo sponsored by the Panhandle Economic Program.

The theme of the conference will be "Water Resource Utilization--Now and Future."

Among speakers at the conference will be Bill Clayton, Leo Forrest, John Shipley, J. W. Buchanan, Dr. J. R. Johnston, Dr. J. R. Runkles and Dr. Herbert Grubb.

The conference will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 4 p.m.

Randall County is one of 26 in the Panhandle supporting the PEP.

Youth, 16, Arrested

A 16-year-old Amarillo boy was arrested Tuesday afternoon in connection with the Saturday morning burglary of a local service station.

Arraignment procedings for the youth will be this afternoon in county court.

Chief of Police Calvin Costley said the service station was burglarized between 5 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. Saturday of about $40 worth of cigarettes.

He said the burglar gained entry through a window. Damage to the window was estimated at about $100.

The youth was arrested after he revealed information about the burglary to police after being fined Monday night on minor in possession of alcoholic beverages charges.

He was remanded to the custody of County Probation Officer Woody Pond pending further court action.

Uniforms Needed For New Scouters

A new Cub Scout Pack is being formed in connection with the Office of Economic Opportunity and uniforms are needed for these boys, according to Oscar Hinger, principal for Rex Reeves Elementary School.

Residents with uniforms to donate should contact Hinger. The uniforms will not be given to the boys, but each must work to earn his uniform.

A similar Boy Scout Troop is to be formed in the near future and uniforms will be needed for these boys also, according to Hinger.

Cathy Wiseman To Wed C. D. Howard, Feb. 6th

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wiseman of Vega announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Cathy Jan, to Charlie Don Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Howard of Canyon.

The bride-elect is a sophomore elementary education major at West Texas State University.

Her fiance attended WTSU and is presently employed with the Texas Department of Public Safety.

The United Methodist Church, Vega, will be the scene for the February 6 wedding ceremony.

Commanders Assignment For Lt. Col. Billy Smith

The professor of military science at West Texas State University has been reassigned to a position as commander of the 5th Psychological War Battalion in Germany.

Earlier this year, Lt. Col. Billy R. Smith had been assigned to duty with an infantry battalion in Germany.

The change in assignment came this week after Col. Smith was accepted into the Information Officers Program of the U. S. Army.

The colonel will leave Canyon in late May and is to assume command of the psychological warfare battalion July 1.

The battalion is stationed in the Stutgart vicinity and is the only psychological war battalion now serving in the European theatre.

Col. Smith said a psychological warfare battalion is mainly responsible for propaganda materials, leaflets, movies and newspapers.

He said the battalion works closely with German psychological operations units.

When serving his first tour in Vietnam, Col. Smith was psychological operations staff officer with the special forces.

Waco News-Tribune 12/11/69 Farm Bureau Approves Program of Phase-Out

BY CLARK BOLT
Staff writer

The American Farm Bureau Federation apparently will retain its program RAM to "free agriculture from government." AFBF voting delegates meeting in Washington, D. C. Wednesday approved its plan to phase-out over a five-year period the government feed grains, wheat, cotton and direct payment programs.

An effort to get cotton excluded from the AFBF plan was made by several southern farm bureau officials, including Texas Farm Bureau President Sidney Dean of Victoria.

AFBF information officials told the Waco News Tribune "a serious, strong debate" over excluding cotton was made by representatives of southern state farm bureaus.

Those in favor of leaving cotton out of phase-out program said cotton farmers and the cotton industry could not survive without government help for the time being, and that since AFBF was opposed to payment limitations the phase-out system represented a limitation, and thus should be defeated.

Cropland retirement, also a major portion of the AFBF program, was also approved. AFBF called for a "practical land retirement program." Not spelled out in the resolution was the number of acres to be retired.

But the AFBF bill introduced in congress provides 10 million acres per year for a five-year period. Emphasis on taking whole farms out of product on should be encouraged, AFBF said, but it should not be on a basis to encourage more livestock production and should not be of such magnitude to damage the economy of any given area.

AFBF will conclude its convent on Thursday with election of a new vice-president. Walter Randolph, Alabama, and AFBF vice-president, resigned due to ill health. Final approval of resolutions is also due.

AFBF president Charles Shuman said farmers made a mistake back in 1933 when they turned to government for controls and supports. He said continuation of government payment programs will mean poverty in agriculture. For a starter, he said, supports for soybeans and dairy products could be safely eliminated now.

President Nixon made a brief speech. He said his administration has a firm commitment to promote a sound and strong agriculture, and he asked rural people to help.

The Nixon Administration has not endorsed the Farm Bureau phase-out program.

20 Year Service Award For Pioneer's Mardis

J. Ralph Mardis of Canyon was presented with a service award in recognition of his 20 years service with Pioneer Natural Gas Company Friday night at an annual service award's dinner at the Amarillo Country Club.

Over 50 employees and their spouses attended the dinner which was one in a series of three such affairs being held by the company in different cities in its service area. This year 147 employees, representing 1,905 years of service to Pioneer, are being honored.

The award was presented by Burton P. Smith, president of Pioneer Natural Gas Company. Smith also delivered an informal talk for the affair.

Mark Olson Is Student President

Mark Olson of Canyon has become president of Texas A & M University's Civilian Student Council which represented about 2/3 of the student body including 14,042 students.

Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Olson of Canyon, succeeded automatically to the presidency due to the resignation of the former president.

A junior agricultural economics major, Olson previously was first vice president, a position he had held since mid-December. He took the previous post due to a resignation for academic reasons.

Olson is a 1968 graduate of Canyon High School.

Eagles Topple Hornettes

Canyon's Girl Eagles toppled Tulia's Hornettes 39-33 in a low-scoring tilt Tuesday night on the home court.

Led by the scoring of Jan Sternenberg, the Girl Eagles played a deliberate game. Miss Sternenberg hit 19 points for the night.

Through the first quarter, scoring was slow with Tulia leading 6-5 at the end of the stanza. At the half, though, the Eagles had regained their composure and led 20-15.

Bouncing back in the second half, Canyon again jumped ahead, this time by eight points and led 32-24 at the third quarter end.

Cam Davis followed Miss Sternenberg in scoring with 14 points and Linda Lehman hit six points.

For the night, the Eagles hit 13 of 24 free throws for 54 per cent.

Tulia was led in scoring by Tanya Toles with 14 and Joe Carter with 11.

The Hornettes hit seven of 12 per cent from the charity line.

In junior varsity action, the Eagles beat Tulia 62-38 and the sophomore Eagles won 41-33.

Leta Gill led the victorious junior varsity with 23 points.

Canyon's Boy Eagles, after taking their first district victory last weekend, will meet another district foe in the Muleshoe Mules Friday night in Muleshoe.

The Eagles return to Canyon Saturday night for a tilt with Plainview.

WT's Zoffuto Gets Honor For Marines

Former West Texas State University football standout Mike Zoffuto was named the most valuable offensive player on the Quantico Marines this fall.

Zoffuto, a 1966 and '67 letterman at West Texas, is a First Lieutenant in the U. S. Marines. His Quantico Marines team, loaded with former collegiate players, had a 9-2 record this past season, playing mainly against college teams.

He started at center on the Buffalo team in 1967 which had an 8-3 record, including a 35-13 win in the Junior Rose Bowl over San Fernando Valley State. He played center this past fall to win the most valuable award.

Zoffuto is married to the former Marcia McEntrye of Odessa, the 1968 West Texas State Homecoming Queen. He is presently on leave, awaiting assignment to Vietnam.

Baha'i Film Is Set January 22

"A New Wind", a 30-minute color motion picture about the Baha'i faith, will be presented January 22 at 7 p.m. in the Girl Scout Building.

The Amarillo Baha'i Community, having the film on a one week engagement, will be showing the film in towns of the Amarillo area at no charge to inform the public.

Marcelle Brewer Rites Scheduled Here Friday

Funeral services for Miss Marcelle Brewer, 62, will be conducted Friday at 11 a.m. at LaGrone Funeral Chapel with Rev. Baldwin J. Stribling, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Canyon, officiating.

Miss Brewer died early Wednesday at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo. She had been a resident of Amarillo for 25 years and spent most of her early years in Memphis. She was born November 15, 1907 at Arlington.

A member of the Westminister Presbyterian Church in Amarillo, Miss Brewer earned the B. S. from West Texas Teachers College here and the master of education from WTSU. She had taught school in Dalhart, Wichita Falls, and Amarillo. For the past 15 years, she had taught at Coronado Elementary School in Amarillo.

She was a member of the Amarillo Classroom Teachers, Texas State Teachers Association, National Education Association and Association of Childhood Education.

Following services at the chapel here, interment will be at Fairview Cemetery in Memphis.

Surviving Miss Brewer are her mother, Mrs. J. A. Brewer of Amarillo; a brother, F. A. Brewer of Arcadia, California; a sister Mrs. Ivy Carruth of Austin; a niece, Mrs. Sally Brasher of Dallas and a great nephew and niece, Brad and Lynn Brasher of Dallas.

Area Republican Candidates Hear George Bush Announce

Area Republican candidates flooded the Villa Inn Wednesday morning to hear A. S. Rep. George Bush announce to the Panhandle his candidacy for the U. S. Senate.

Seated with Bush during the early morning press conference were U. S. Rep. Bob Price of Pampa, State Rep. Malouf Abrahams of Canadian and State Rep. Tom Christian of Claude.

"The Panhandle area is essential in this campaign," Bush said during the announcement. "It is helpful and impressive to have this cadre of elected republicans here at this press conference."

The candidate said it would be necessary to get "a lot of Democratic help" in his effort to unseat Sen. Ralph Yarbrough next November.

'I think I will get substantial Democratic help," he said.

He said that while he was not "a rubber stamp supporter of the President," he indicated he had a "close relationship" with President Nixon and could expect his campaign help.

Asked what he thought would be key campaign issues in November, Bush said the War in Vietnam would probably be diminished in importance but national economy would be heavily discussed.

"Most of all it is important to have two senators from Texas who do not cancel out each other's vote," he said.

Rep. Price gave Bush his "unqualified support" in the senatorial race, telling newsmen he believes the candidate is "one of the most dynamic men in congress today."

"We have both learned a great deal together during the last three years in Congress," Price said.

Price said he will announce his candidacy for re-election at 1:30 p.m. today in his Amarillo office.

Rep. Abraham, who said he will announce his candidacy at 9:30 a.m. today indicated he was not expecting any problems in his race.

"I haven't heard of anyone running against me," he said.

He said that if the Republicans "get some good candidates we will have some good ammunition for these races."

Representing Randall County at the reception following the press conference were County Judge Carroll Brown, County Clerk Leroy Hutton, County Commissioner Bill Butler.

Asked if he would like to join the candidates making campaign announcements, Judge Brown smiled and said "not today."

"There have been anough announcements made today," he said. "I will probably announce Monday."

Funeral Rites Conducted For G. Averbeck

Funeral services were conducted December 23 for Gerhard Averbeck, age 38, who died of meningitis December 22, 1969 at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Averbeck, a local farmer who lived south of Amarillo, fell ill while in Clovis, New Mexico on business. He had been enroute to Fort Sumner where he owned another farm. Averbeck was admitted to a Clovis hospital, then later transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital.

He was born near Umbarger and attended the Canyon schools as well as Price College, now known as Alamo College, in Amarillo.

Services were held by Blackburn Shaw Funeral Directors and burial took place in the Llano Cemetary in Amarillo.

Survivors include two sisters, Mary Teresa Friemel of Umbarger and Gregitta Averbeck of Amarillo, and a stepmother, Paula F. Averbeck of south of Amarillo.

200 View 'War Game'

About 200 persons--many of them high school students--viewed the film "War Games" Tuesday night on the West Texas State University campus and saw the stages before, during and after a nuclear blast.

Filmed by the British Broadcasting Company several years ago, the movie concerned the destructive power of the nuclear weapons many nations now stockpile.

Included in the fictional parts of the film were sequences shot during World War II at Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The story line of the movie involved a fictional day in a part of England. Late in the morning, a nuclear bomb exploded.

The movie traced the reactions of those involved from the period before the bomb hit to well after it had ended--as much as five months.

No panel discussion preceded the film, which was sponsored by the Campus Christian Community.

News Brief

West Texas State University head football coach and director of athletics Joe Kerbel has two speaking dates for high school football banquets.

Kerbel will speak at the Spur High School football banquet Jan. 17 and the Corsiciana High School banquet Jan. 19.

Ordination Service Sunday For Reckling

An ordination service for Geary Reckling will be conducted Sunday evening, January 18, at 5 p.m. at Calvary Baptist Church here for the purpose of serving in full-time ministry. Reckling is currently serving on his first pastorate with the First Baptist Church of Carey (near Childress), a position he has held since September.

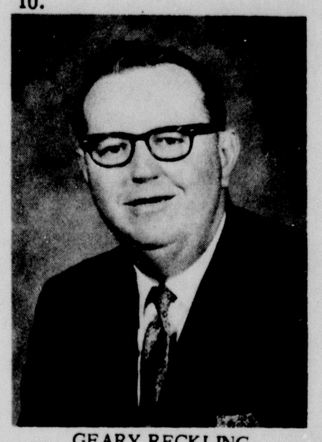
He is a senior student at West Texas State University and upon graduation in August 1970 plans to enter Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

Rev. H. D. Freeman, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, will serve as moderator for the ordination and Rev. Jack Boyett, formerly of Canyon's Calvary Baptist Church and now with the Bell Avenue Baptist Church in Amarillo, will give the ordination message. Other area pastors will participate in the rites and regular church training union will follow the service.

Born in Centralia, Illinois, Reckling is a graduate of Clinton, Illinois high school and served four years with the U. S. Air Force. For the past six years he has been employed as a mail carrier with the US Post Office in Canyon.

His wife, the former Anna Bell Bailey of Hedley, is employed with the business office at West Texas State University.

The Recklings have two children, Sherry, 13, and Danny, 10.



GEARY RECKLING

priority.

"I move we request a grade separation for Hunsley Hills Road and also recommend the medians be temporarily closed until the project is completed," said Commissioner Bill Butler. "The ultimate goal will be the building of a road east."

The vote passed unanimously.

Last Thursday, Canyon city commissioners, again acting on a request from the newspaper publisher, requested that Hunsley Hills Road access to the main north and southbound lanes of U. S. 87 be closed.

Mayor Paul Lindsey, who attended Monday's county session, said he felt sure the city would back the county request and would send delegates to Austin for the formal hearing.

In other action, the county commissioners asked the city to obtain estimates on cost of burying all trash not above ground at the city dump grounds.

For several weeks the dump ground has been a topic of discussion for both the county and city.

Last Thursday, city commissioners voted to limit use of the dump to city residents only unless an agreement could be reached with the county by Feb. 1.

"I would like to reiterate that I feel this problem is a problem for all of us," Mayor Lindsey told commissioners. "I want to make it clear that we're not coming here with the idea that you've got to do this."

The mayor proposed that the several acres of trash now above ground, be buried to decrease the rat and dog population.

"Once we get it cleaned up, then we can keep better control of it," he said.

A damper was put on any county plans to aid the city, however, when District Attorney George Dowlen said a recent attorney general's opinion states the county may not pay the city for dump ground use.

The commissioners indicated, though, they may purchase heavy equipment and lease it to the city for a small fee.

Commissioners discussed the possibility of placing a man on duty at the grounds 24 hours. They also discussed the closing of the road leading to the dump at its intersection with the VFW Road.

Commissioner Glenn Dowlen pointed out, however, that if one taxpayer in the county protests the road closing, the road would have to remain open.

Butler recommended the city determine the cost of hiring a firm to clean up the dump ground and then the city and county work together from there.

In other business, the commissioners heard a presentation by Ralph Roberts of Western Data Services, Inc., that the county place its voter registration operation on computer.

Commissioners requested that County Tax Assessor-Collector Mrs. Audrey Bruse figure current cost of voter registration for a comparison with Western Data's fee.

The commissioners also passed a resolution favoring and encouraging the development of a road coming from the east intp Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

strength during the final five minutes to pull out its eight-point decision.

"We just ran out of gas and didn't have anyone to go off the bench," said Walling. "Ron Howle, James McCloud and Gene Murdock didn't come off the court. They went the full 40 minutes. You can't do that today with the pressing defenses and fast-breaking offenses. Players must be given rest periods."

Howle hit a season high of 21 points during the contest, was credited with six assists and the 5-10 senior pulled in five rebounds. Dale Blaut paced the Buffs in that game with 23 points. Ed Fitzgerald totaled 14 points and pulled in 12 rebounds. Murdock had 12 points and 10 rebounds, while McCloud tallied 11 points and pulled 10 rebounds.

"On our last two trips we have played as good as we can play, but have won only one of four games," said Walling. The Buffs fell to Southwestern Louisiana and Southern Mississippi on a swing just before the Christmas break.

"This ball club gives its all each time it is on the court," related Walling. "The boys respond to coaching and I feel I'm doing my first coaching job in three years at West Texas State. We had Simmie Hill and Mike Mitchell during my first two years. Simmie is a free-lance type of player and Mike is a great one-on-one player.

"These kids this year realize they don't have the great ability. They adjust as a team both offensively and defensively to various situations. For example-we were able to go against Houston's zone press without being bothered. Of course, we died in the final minutes when we were tired, but the kids aren't affected by pressure. They just ran out of gas against Houston."

gram and what the students think about it.

"Many of the adults now involved in leadership roles in the livestock association were once members of 4-H or FFA and participated in the show," Brazzil said.

Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson, who has been involved with the program agrees, but also emphasizes the support has been steady.

"The people of Randall County have never failed to support this show," he said. "Without them there couldn't be a show and sale."

Wilson said that it was his contention "when a businessman supports these kids at the sale and show, the kids never forget it and they become the businessman's customers of tomorrow."

The Swine department will lead the Lamb, Horse, Steer, Beef Heifer and Dairy departments in total entrants this year, which is not surprising according to a survey taken last year by the FFA

"A survey in this school district last year showed about 1,000 sows and the feeding of about 11,350 pigs to market weight," Phillips said. "Experts have estimated that in five to six years there will be as many swine feedlots as cattle feedlots."

The action at the show will begin at 1:30 p.m. Friday with the judging of Dairy Heifers, followed by the 2:30 p.m. judging of Beef Heifers and Horses at 3:30 p.m.

The Swine will be judged at 9 a.m. Saturday with Lambs at 1 p.m. and Steers at 2:30 p.m. The sale will be held at 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

Each bidder in the sale will be bidding on the prize animals as they enter the ring. The cost to the bidder will be the dollars per hundred weight offered which exceeds the floor or resale price which will be announced before each class of animal is sold.

Sale officials said the Randall County Junior Livestock Association will act as clearing agent for all livestock sold and will handle the resale as announced.

"I want to urge people to support the show and go by and see the animals and above all else support the show and go by Saturday," said Judge Wilson. "The building will be air conditioned and there will be comfortable seats."

of this money will be made available so that your county may begin a food assistance program at no cost to the county itself."

Another letter, this one from Burton G. Hackney, commissioner of the State Department of Public Welfare, indicates through the same wording that "Federal funds from the U. S. Department of Agriculture now are available to start a food distribution program at no cost to your county."

Randall County commissioners will meet at 10 a.m. Friday at the Coronado Inn in Amarillo with officials from the welfare department concerning the district judge's ruling.

Hackney's letter states that the welfare department "has scheduled a meeting in your area of the state at which we can discuss with you and your commissioners, along with officials from your neighboring counties, how the counties and the state can work together to implement these programs with federal funds."

rillo. He served with the U. S. Navy in World War II.

"I have always tried, and shall forever continue to try, to do the job that you elected me to do to the very best of my ability, to show fair treatment and justice to everyone I come in contact with," Wilson said. "If you have ideas that might make the services of the office of justice of the peace more efficient to you, the people of Randall County, I would appreciate your discussing them with me at any time."

Wilson said that through his years in office he has "appreciated the cooperation and confidence that all the fine people of Randall County have given me.

"The office has been challenging and I look forward to continuing my service to those same people as we all work together to have order and justice in our county."

Wilson was appointed to an unexpired term as justice of the peace in 1959 and has served since that time.

He and his wife, Ina Mae, have three children.

housing list for both Canyon and Amarillo," Roberts said. "We can also provide a guide service on campus, have a book exchange, give information on the G. I. benefits and possibly set up a loan service."

Active reservists and Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets will also be eligible for membership in Camvets, according to the spnsor.

"Our one biggest fear is that we will become associated as an anti-moratorium group," Laird said. "That is certainly not the case."

The advisor said that current plans are being established to make Camvets a national organization with headquarters in Amarillo.

"It is too early for major plans along that line," he said. "but we hope to be able to branch out once we are firmly established."

Members said that information regarding the organization may be obtained by writing Box 315, WT Station.

Judge Announces For Bench

Judge Charles L. Reynolds of Childress announced this week his candidacy for the bench of Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo.

Reynolds is currently serving as 100th Judicial District Judge.

The position Reynolds seeks will be vacated by Justice Ernest O. Northcutt, who has announced his retiremen at the end of the present term.

A Democrat, Reynolds is serving his second term as judge of the 100th district.

Since he became a trial judge, Reynolds has disposed of more than 2,800 cases. He has been called upon to decide 229 cases in courts other than his own in the Panhandle and Houston.

An area native, Reynolds served in World War II.

He was admitted to the practice of law after graduating from the Southern Methodist University School of Law. For eight years, he served as Childress County attorney.

He is a member and past president of the Childress County and 100th Judicial District Bar Associations, the American and Texas Bar Associations, the American Judicature Society, the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and various other civic groups. He is governor of District 573 of Rotary International.

He and his wife, Nelmarie, have two sons, Charles Jr., a freshman at West Texas State University, and Parman Eugene, a senior at Childress High School.

JUDGE CHARLES L. REYNOLDS

Guilty Plea Nets Probation

A 21-year-old senior premedicine major at West Texas State University Tuesday was sentenced to four years in the state penitentiary after pleading guilty in 47th District Court to a charge of burglary by breaking.

Bennie Fred Setliff of 1500 Woodland in Amarillo was placed on probation for the term by Judge Gene Jordan contingent on the defendant's continuing to seek psychiatric counseling.

Setliff was charged with burglarizing the home of Canyon Policeman Jim Blair September 5, 1969 in Randall County.

Potter County officers searched Setliff's home on a search warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Cliff Roberts shortly after the burglary and recovered several items, including firearms.

The search also revealed several items later proved to have been taken from the home of Smith Guest of Turkey.

In applying for probation, Setliff told Judge Jordan he was married and has a child, that he maintained a 1.8 scholastic average in school and that he had taken tests to enter dental school following graduation.

County Farmers Union Elects Dean Schaeffer

Dean Schaeffer was named president of Randall County Farmers Union Monday night as that group held annual election of officers.

He succeeds A. R. Friemel as head of the organization.

Other officers elected include James Lamb, vice president; and Alfred Buecker, secretary-treasurer.

Sixteen persons attended the meeting and in addition to electing officers heard an announcement that the state convention will be held in Amarillo and that Randall County Farmers Union probably will act as host.
